THE NARRATIVE LOOM

---

A 44-Card Oracle Deck

Companion Guide

You are the one holding the thread.

---

Jaimie Kozyra

Start Here

---

This deck is not here to tell you your future.

It is here to hand you one honest question at a time — and then get out of the way while you answer it.

Every one of us carries a story about who we are. Some of it is true. Some of it was handed to us by people who were guessing. The cards in this deck help you tell the difference.

A loom does not create thread. It holds it steady so you can see the pattern you are making. That is what these 44 cards do.

You do not need to know anything about oracle cards to use this. You only need to be willing to be honest with yourself for five minutes.

WHAT'S INSIDE EACH CARD

- A number — Cards 1 through 44. The order means nothing — pull whatever comes.
- A name — The theme. Read it before you read anything else.
- An image — Look at it first. Notice what you feel before you think.
- A truth — One sentence. The message of the card.
- An action — One small thing to actually do today.

How to Pull a Card

---

Sit down.

Phone face down. Two minutes is enough.

Breathe three times.

Slow. In through your nose, out through your mouth.

Ask one thing.

Out loud or in your head. “What do I need to see today?” works fine.

Shuffle until it feels done.

There is no wrong way. Your hands will know.

Pull one card.

One. Not three, not until you like the answer.

Look before you read.

What does the image make you feel? Sit with that first.

Read the truth. Do the action.

Today, not someday. Small counts.

IF YOU DON'T LIKE THE CARD YOU GOT

That is usually the one worth sitting with. Don't re-pull. Ask yourself what about it landed wrong — the answer is in there.

Three Ways to Lay Them Out

1. The Daily Thread

One card. One question. One small action. This is the one you'll use most.

Today

---

2. The Loom

Three cards, left to right. For when something feels stuck and you can't name why.

The thread I'm pulling

What's tangling
it

What to weave next

---

3. The Turning

Two cards. For the start of a month, a season, or anything ending.

What I'm
putting down

What I'm
picking up

Use one spread at a time. More cards does not mean more clarity.

If You Want to Go Deeper

---

A FEW HONEST WAYS TO USE THIS DECK LONGER TERM

- Same card, seven days. If a card keeps showing up, stop pulling and stay with it for a week.
- Pull for a decision, not a fortune. Ask “what am I not looking at here” instead of “what will happen.”
- Write the date on a note each time. In three months you'll see your own pattern, not the cards'.
- Pull with someone else. Read each other's cards out loud. It's harder to lie out loud.

WHEN NOT TO PULL A CARD

- When you already know the answer and want permission.
- When you're spiralling. Ground first, pull after.
- When you want it to make a decision for you. It won't. That part's yours.

One Last Thing

I made this deck because I got tired of being told to trust the process without anyone telling me what the process actually was.

The process is this: you look at what's true, you stop arguing with it, and you change one small thing. Then you do it again tomorrow.

These cards won't heal you. They'll just keep asking until you answer honestly — and that turns out to be most of it.

You're the one holding the thread. You always were.
